MEMPHIS APPEAL.

MORALITY OF LEGISLATION.

The morality of Congressional legislation is strikingly exemplified in two respects. The effect of the Confiscation law, under which the life-interest of a party in lands is sold, is to make it for the interest of his heirs that he should speedily die. His children may not wish that, and few are capable of such a wish, but the law holds out to them with unwearied hand a permanent bribe to tempt them to do so. The effect of the reconstruction acts is to reconcile freedmen to despotism and a Military Government, as preferable to the dominion of scallawagism and negroes.

What more can Jacobinism do, to corrupt, and debase and demoralize a people? What is "corruption of the blood," which the Constitution prohibits,—what is even that corruption of the blood with which man rots while living and bequeaths the putrid contamination to his children, compared with that corruption of the soul, which this devil's legislation endeavours to produce, in children who long to be enriched by the death of their fathers, and freemen who become enamoured of despotism and lose the instincts and habits of thought of men born to the heritage of liberty?

Who is there that cannot look round him in his neighborhood in the South and find some man, once an ardent declaimer on the subject of the rights of freemen and the invaluable excellence of free government, and who, now purchased by the hope of pardon or the hope of office or the fear of oppression, and tainted and demoralized by the base and accursed influences of Congressional legislation, has so sunken from his once high estate as to grovel at the feet of power, and kiss the hand that smites him on the mouth, and the feet that trample him down into the mire of dishonor?

The legislation that has for its object to degrade and dishonor a people, to corrupt and debase and contaminate them, to destroy all sense of honor, all pride, all heroic impulses, and stamp and crush them down to the low base level of the ignorant negro, can hardly be characterized by words. Its object is to kill the soul. With a few men it succeeds, and spurns and despises them afterwards. The Southern people, thank God, and especially the women of the South, it cannot so subdue as that they shall glory in their own shame and deem political fellowship with their oppressors an honor.

MISSISSIPPI RIVER RAILWAY.

We are informed by Mr. Thomas H. Millington, Chief Engineer, that the surveys for the above road have been completed, and estimates made of the cost of construction through Obion and Dyer counties.

As regards alignment, grade and cost, the route is an exceedingly favorable one, and the work of such character as to admit of its being cheaply and speedily executed.

The great enthusiasm with which the citizens of these counties hailed the prospect of a railroad, has settled down into the full determination that it ought to, and shall, be built, with the least possible delay, and to insure the early completion of this long desired road, the vim with which subscriptions are being made to the capital stock of the company, leaves no doubt of speedy success.

If the citizens of Lauderdale, Tipton and Shelby counties enter into the project with like zeal, there is no reason why the road cannot be completed, and the cars running from Paducah to Memphis within three years.

That such a consummation cannot fail to be exceedingly beneficial in developing the vast agricultural resources of the country through which the road passes, and of adding largely to the commercial prosperity of Memphis, will be admitted by all who will give the matter that careful consideration its importance demands, and impress upon those interested the necessity of taking immediate steps calculated to insure the early completion of this important thoroughfare.

The Corn Crop and Dry Weather.

From almost every section, the alarm is given of "great drouth." Yet, we have rarely seen corn have a better color. It needs rain, but the dry weather, which has been most acceptable for wheat, has not yet injured it and will not, if it be properly cultivated.

At Point Coupee, on the 10th, there was general complaint of the prevailing drouth, and fears were entertained of injury to the corn crop. If any farmer should see this, let him remember that corn can thrive with very little rain, provided the ground is kept well stirred. "The drier the season, the more work" never yet has been known to fail in securing a good crop.

Corn sends out long roots in search of sustenance. While the ground should be broken up as deeply as the plow can be driven and drawn, the surface should afterward be well stirred, that the dews may the more readily penetrate, and fulfill their mission, and not as is too frequently the case, be absorbed by the next day's sunshine, having formed a dry crust intercepting them from the feelers of the plant straggling in every direction in search of food, far below the surface. Nor should the exploded notion of earthing or scrowding the earth around the plant, the first set of braces or spurs be-stalk. [illegible] will be succeeded by a ling covered u[illegible] instinct of the plant second set. It is an [illegible]ra under which to support the weight of e[illegible] bend. with proper culture, it is sure [illegible]d Hoeing is too slow work for a cornfield, and requires too many hands. A cultivater or a shovel plow, well handled will answer every purpose, and keep the ground in proper condition.

—Speaking of the late negro emeute in Houston, the Galveston Dispatch correctly says: Once for all let the black men understand they must not constitute themselves the champions and protectors of every offender of their color arrested, nor must they resort to acts of violence because they are free.

—About this time Galveston is troubled with an excess of incendiaries. The citizens talk of improvising a mode of getting rid of some of them. Burglaries are frequent, and burglars are to be treated the same way.

—Charles F. Wood, the young woman who wore men's clothes in New York, for five years, without her sex being suspected, is to appear in the courts as prosecutor, in order to determine whether a woman may not with impunity wear any clothes she choses.

THE MANSHAC ROUTE.

There has been much speculation and many plausible theories ventilated o opening a way to commerce and trade from the Mississippi river, through Manshac to Mobile. We have scarcely given the subject a second thought, for we were aware of its impracticability, having heard a description of the impediments and obstructions from actual observation, many years ago. Besides, while Grant was hunting around and prospecting to avoid Vicksburg and Port Hudson, and other officers were following his illustrious example of trying their luck upon the water as well as upon land, the capacity of this outlet for the accumulating waters of the Mississippi, and sought to open a new and direct avenue to trade between St. Louis and Mobile, must have more than once occupied their attention, and been found wanting. We remember it was pronounced impracticable, as far back as 1838-9, when the Jackson Railroad occupied much attention, and were somewhat surprised it should so suddenly seize upon public interest, and find so many eager advocates. The fever is dying out, and the following communication to the St. Louis Democrat, from Col. Long, an old, experienced and able engineer, will be apt to dispose of it for a decade or two longer. He says:

I was State Engineer of Louisiana in 1837, and made a survey of Bayou Manchac, in that State, under the instructions of its Board of Public Works. The same year I made an examination or inspection of the attempted improvement of Amite river, by a corporate company, from the southern line of the State of Mississippi to its mouth at Lake Maurepas, or rather through that lake to Pass Manchac and Lake Pontchartrain.

Bayou Manchac is about twenty miles below Baton Rouge, the first five miles of which is a dry bayou or nearly so. It commences back of the roadway or levee at its mouth, with a breadth of some fifty or sixty feet, and depth only to admit the Mississippi waters at their highest stages, and then only in quantities sufficient for light pirogue or keel-boat navigation, should the levee at the mouth be removed. The fall in this five miles is nearly twenty-four feet. At the end of this distance it passes the southern terminus of the high lands on which Baton Rouge is situated, and here it is joined by a bayou coming from the south which gives back drainage for the valuable sugar estates on the east side of the river, reaching from Bayou Manchac as far down as Piaquemine, if not to Donaldsonville, some twenty-five or thirty miles, or more from this junction to the Amite river is a distance of above seven miles. The bayou is somewhat enlarged, but ordinarily is but a shallow, fordable stream.

The Amite river, from its crossing of the Mississippi line into the State of Louisiana to its meeting with its effluent, the Comite river, some six or eight miles south of Clinton, La., has its channel through a flat pine woods country, and if cleared one season, may cut a new side track by the time another comes round, entirely obstructed by fallen trees. Through the Amite to Bayou Manchac, where in former times there was a town called Galveston, the river is shallow and susceptible only of light navigation. From Bayou Manchac to Lake Maurepas the Amite is a handsome stream of some four or five hundred yards in breadth and four feet in depth. Lake Maurepas is about six miles across to Pass Manchac, which is its outlet into Lake Pontchartrain. This is a shallow lake with a muddy bottom, through which into the latter it is difficult to find above two and a half feet of water.

It is evident that this never could have been a route to satisfy the trade between the Mississippi river and the Gulf coast of Mississippi, Alabama and Florida for any great length of time after their earliest European settlements; and it seems to me upon the above descriptions, which are correct, it will require but little reflection to show the impracticability to undertake to make it answer for such at its present and future unmeasured magnitude. Besides, to admit a great volume of water through the bayou, the plantations which are drained by it as above described would be nearly or quite ruined. Respectfully submitted.

GEO. W. LONG.

CONGRESSIONAL.

SENATE.

WASHINGTON, June 19.—Edmunds, from the Judiciary Committee, reported, with an amendment, the bill relative to holding elections for Senators.

Wilson introduced a joint resolution to cross from the rolls of the army certain officers, absent without authority from their commands. Referred to the Military Committee.

Pomeroy introduced a bill to transfer the Indian Bureau to the War Department. He said the purpose was to turn it over to the Freedmen's Bureau. Referred to the Committee on Indian Affairs.

Washburne, of Indiana, from the Committee on Military Affairs, reported a bill relating to the additional bounties, which was ordered to be printed and re-committed.

Ketchum, from the same Committee, reported a bill providing for the appointment of a committee to examine and report on certain claims from the State of New York. Ordered to be printed and re-committed.

On the motion of Morgan, the adverse vote of yesterday on the bill for the relief of certain exporters of rum and alcohol, was reconsidered and passed.

The Chair laid before the Senate the House resolution passed yesterday, denouncing the land treaty with the Osage Indians.

Sumner said the resolutions related to a matter that should properly come before the Senate in executive session. They were therefore transferred to an Executive session and referred to the Committee on Indian Affairs.

HOUSE.

Farnsworth, from the Conference Committee, on the bill relieving from political disabilities certain persons in the Southern States, made a report in favor of striking out the names of George S. Houston, of Alabama, and George W. Jones, of Tennessee.

Buck made a minority report, and spoke of the high character of the men who were excluded by it, and said that he knew of no reason for it, were it not that Mr. Jones might probably be a dangerous competitor for Congress, for the district in which he lived.

Farnsworth defended the report, and said that when the Senate's amendment was referred to the Reconstruction Committee, that committee naturally consulted the members from Tennessee as to the present condition of Mr. Jones' mind, and came to the conclusion, from what they said, that until Mr. Jones asked to be relieved from his disabilities, it was not worth while for Congress to tender amnesty to him. He did not inquire into the politics of the man proposed to be relieved, but he did inquire as to whether he was acting with the loyal people of the United States, or was acting with the rebels of the South. After further discussion the bill was defeated by 72 to 55, less than two-thirds voting for it. A motion to reconsider it was made, and the matter was laid over until Monday next.

The bill regulating the carrying of passengers on steamships and other vessels, was called up and passed.

The Speaker then proceeded to the business on his table, and disposed of it as follows:

The Senate's amendment to the House joint resolution for turning over damaged ordnance for the Lincoln monument was agreed to.

The Senate's amendment to the House bill, to amend the act of March 25, 1864, providing for carrying the mails from the United States to foreign ports, was concurred in; as was the Senate's amendment to the bill continuing the Freedmen's Bureau; the Senate's amendment to the bill relating to the Supreme Court; the Senate's amendment to the bill for the relief of certain exporters of distilled spirits, by striking out the word "alcohol," were all concurred in.

HOUSE.

WASHINGTON, June 20.—Cook, from the Committee on Elections, called up the contested case from the Ninth Congressional District of Kentucky, of McKee against Young. The Committee reported that Young, who holds the certificate, was not duly elected, but that McKee, the contestant, was duly elected; that Young had furnished aid and countenanced the rebels, and was not entitled to take the oath of office as a representative.

Cook proceeded to argue the case in support of the position of the committee, but was interrupted by a message from the President vetoing the bill for the admission of Arkansas to representation.

The message having been read, the Speaker stated the question to be the will of the House on the reconsideration.

Stevens, of Pennsylvania, moved the previous question, and it was seconded. The vote resulted—yeas 111, nays 31, a strict party vote, the Speaker voting in the affirmative.

The Speaker then announced that two-thirds of the members having voted in the affirmative on the reconsideration, the bill had passed the House and would be transmitted, with the objections of the President, to the Senate for its action.

Schenck reported from the Committee on Ways and Means a bill to change and more effectually secure the collection of internal taxes on distilled spirits and tobacco, and to amend the tax on banks. He said by an order of the House he had the right to proceed with the bill to the exclusion of all other business, but he would not ask the House to go on with it now. He wished only to have it printed, and gave notice that he would call it up on Monday at 2 o'clock.

The House will motion the Kentucky election case on Monday.

MEMPHIS APPEAL.

ALBERT PIKE & CO.

Vera Atque Honesta Dicere.

For President of the United States,

ANDREW JOHNSON,

OF TENNESSEE.

[Subject only to the decision of the National Democratic Conservative Convention.]

PLATFORM OF THE TENNESSEE DEMOCRACY.

1st. The Conservative men of Tennessee, putting aside all questions decided by the war, accept the title of 'Democrats,' and formally unite themselves with the Democratic party as it now exists.

2d. The question of the right of a State to secede from the Union has been decided by arms, and that decision should be accepted as final and conclusive.

3d. Nevertheless, while the Constitution makes the Federal Government supreme, it is so only with well defined limitations and restrictions, leaving the States large rights and powers over their domestic concerns, and making them coequal in respect of such rights; and these rights have not been impared by the result of the war, or the powers of the General Government aggrandized by it, to the endangerment of public liberty.

4th. The extinguishment of African Slavery is recognized as a fact, ratified by a binding Constitutional Amendment.

5th. The investiture of negroes with the right of suffrage, by the Congress of the United States, and the disfranchisement of white men, by the same authority, is a gross usurpation of power, and a policy unjust, unwise and oppressive, and tending to excite a war of races: the white men of America are entitled to superiority and supremacy in the administration of the Federal and State governments; and any measure intended to deprive them of it, or to divide or impair it, greatly endangers the perpetuity of free republican institutions.

6th. The faith of the nation is pledged to the payment of the national debt, according to the terms of the laws under which the bonds were issued, and not otherwise. The time of payment of the bonds ought not to be extended; the principal of the five-twenty bonds ought to be paid in currency, and the money granted to the National banks to be withdrawn.

7th. The Government bonds should be taxed in the hands of the bondholders, equally with other property.

8th. The doctrines and practices of the Radical party, which endeavors, by encroaching upon the powers of the Executive and Judicial branches of the Government, to absorb in the Legislative Department all powers, tend to the destruction of the Republican system of Government and the civil liberties of the people.

9th. Equal and exact justice to all men, of whatever State or persuasion, religious or political; peace, commerce and honest friendship with all nations; entangling alliances with none; the support of the State Governments in all their rights, as the most competent administration of our domestic concerns and the surest bulwark against anti-Republican tendencies; the preservation of the General Government in its whole constitutional vigor, as the sheet anchor of peace at home and safety abroad; a jealous care of the rights of election by the people and the supremacy of the civil over the military authority.

10th. Andrew Johnson the first choice of the Democracy of Tennessee; but their Delegates left free to unite in selecting another as the candidate for the Presidency.

"BLOOD IS THICKER THAN WATER."

The war of races has commenced. Audacious in consequence of their success in electing their candidate for Mayor of the city of Washington, the negroes of the District of Columbia have not only "shed the blood of white men, murdered on American soil," but have undertaken to compel those odious to them to become exiles from their homes.

The National Intelligencer copies from the Express the following letters, and accompanies them with the comments which we subjoin. The miserable blacks and mulattoes are being misled by miscreants to their own ruin. They have been persuaded to believe that they can re-enact in the Southern States the scenes of San Domingo, and become the masters of the white men among whom they live and whom they plunder. But "blood is thicker than water;" and so they will find when the question becomes, which of the two races is to be exterminated. Sumner and Wilson and Wade and Covode, and others of that stamp, would devoutly praise the Lord God of Israel, if the negroes were to exterminate the whites whom they hate; but the white men of the Northwest will stand by those of their own race and blood. San Domingo and Martinique were colonies remote from France, and the carnival of Hell was therefore possible on those islands. The Southern States are within reach of the Northwestern yeomanry and of the men of New York and Pennsylvania; and the blood of white men, shed by negroes, will not always cry aloud in vain from the ground:

"WASHINGTON, June 2, 1868.

"F. G. Calvert:

"Sir: You are hereby notified to leave the city in twenty-four hours. We are on the track of one more.

"A DETERMINED RADICAL.

"Mr. Calvert was a Conservative judge on election day in the First Ward."

From the Evening Express.]

"MUST LEAVE TOWN BECAUSE HE VOTED THE DEMOCRATIC TICKET.

"The following was received by one of our citizens to-day. He requests the committee to call on him—a warm reception is granted:

"WASHINGTON, D. C., June 3, 1868.

"Mr. Hoil:

You have been violent in your denunciations of us as a race since the just laws of Congress enfranchised us, and it is deemed advisable by the committee that you should be made to leave the city within two weeks, or suffer the vengeance of an outraged people. Unless you publicly renounce the odious doctrines of modern Democracy within that time, BEWARE.

"Yours, in the cause of progress and liberty,

"Of the Committee."

We copy from Thursday's Express the foregoing letters and comments in order that our readers may see to what Radicalism and negro rule will inevitably come. We are informed that a number of our Conservative fellow-citizens have received similar notifications. The utterance of threats to sack the Intelligencer office and the residences of prominent Conservative citizens were made openly and generally by the deluded dupes of the white Radical tricksters, who, for their own uses, have banded together the ignorant negro population, and are inciting them to acts of violence and crime. The attempt to execute these menaces on Wednesday night was probably prevented only by the knowledge that the citizens of Washington had determined to protect themselves from any further acts of violence and wanton murder, house sacking and depredations by the maddened horde of Mr. Bowen's supporters.

—A servant girl named Catherine McCarty was burned to death on the 14th, in Woonsocket, R. I., by the explosion of a can of burning fluid which she was using to kindle a fire.

—The wife of Manton Marble, editor of the New York World, died on Wednesday of consumption.

SCALAWAG DELEGATES AT CHICAGO.

The correspondent of the New York World, writing from Chicago, gives this refreshing description of the conduct of the 'Southern' Delegates to the Jacobin Convention at Chicago. That the votes of many of them were openly sold, has been charged in other journals. Why not? Mercenaries and condottieri are entitled to their pay and boot, and political Dugald Dalgetties have a right to sell their services to whomsoever will pay them best:

The Southern delegation (carpet-baggers and negroes) were nearly all put down before they arrived here as certain for Wilson. Soon after they made their appearance it commenced leaking out that these men were turning over to some other candidate. The Wilson men, on making inquiries of delegates pledged to him, would get the reply, "Oh, we are all poor, and whoever gets our vote must do something for us." Another delegate would vary this story by saying that he had to mortgage his place to get to the convention, and must be made whole. The next delegate would say that there were several families suffering in his neighborhood, and a little expenditure of money would do a great deal of good. All manner of dodges of this kind and statements of the above character were made, showing that money was what these men were after. Before the nomination was made the men got to be so bold that the matter was openly discussed at their meetings. A committee advocating the claims of a certain candidate waited upon the Mississippi delegation, and after stating their business, were told by the Chairman, in the presence of the whole delegation, that these candidates had to do something before they would vote for them. We are poor and want money, was the constant story. In fact, the carpet-baggers were looking after their rations, and were determined to have them.

TRULY LOYAL.

More illicit distilling is carried on in East Tennessee than in any three other States. Some counties have thirty or forty stills, whose owners violate the revenue laws without hindrance, and a correspondent declares that he can count a dozen men who have lost their lives in endeavoring to enforce the laws.

Is it the Ku-Kluxes who, to the great discontent of the 'truly loyal' of East Tennessee, thus defraud 'the best Government in the world' and murder good Union men endeavoring to enforce the laws and bring rebel distilleries to justice? It would be a profitable lie, perhaps. Why should not the New York Tribune swear to it?

Why is nothing said about this illicit distilling in the 'loyal' papers of Tennessee? Is it not because East Tennessee is intensely loyal, and the offenders are all persecuted Union men?

PARIS CORRESPONDENCE.

The Races at Vincennes—Visit of Emperor and Empress to Rouen—A New Journal—The Lanterne—Latest Fashions, etc., etc.

Correspondence of the Appeal.]

PARIS, June 3, 1868.

Dear Sir: "Il vaut mieux tard que jamais" is a good motto: better late than never. I have been promising from time to time, or rather threatening, to send one of my random, scattering epistles over your way, and give you a little Parisian gossip; but between my natural chronic laziness and my professional engagements, I have had my time so completely taken up that I have, up to this very day, never been able to send you a line.

I have just returned from the races at Vincennes, tired but delighted. The French steeple chase society have good reason to congratulate themselves on having chosen Whit-Monday for their summer meeting. The weather is delightful and the attendance at the grounds was the largest since the memorable inauguration five years ago. The sport was good, and passed off without an accident—the chief event being a new race with the rather unwieldy name of "Prix du cercle de la rue Royale," a handicap for 10,000 francs. To this sum 10,000 francs more were added, and brought out a good field of twelve entries. The struggle was between the Count d'Evry's "Marche Mal" (better known as "Silly," his former name), and Mons. Pol. Nanquette's "Anglo Saxon"—the latter proving winner. I do not suppose you take any interest in the details, or I would send you the running.

Their Majesties, the Emperor and Empress, returned to-day from their excursion to Rouen. The evening papers are full of the account of their trip. When the Mayor and municipal authorities received the Imperial visitors, they presented the keys of the city to S. M., the Emperor. They are the self-same keys that were presented to his uncle, Napoleon Bonaparte, in 1810, on his visit to Rouen to inaugurate a bridge over the Seine.

The Mayor, in making the presentation address, alluded to the visit of the First Napoleon, and thanked the Emperor for the works accomplished during his reign and under his protection, especially those that embellish the ancient Norman city of Rouen, and for the improvement of the navigation of the lower Seine.

His Majesty left in the hands of the authorities ten thousand francs for the local charitable institutions and for old men wearing the St. Helena medals. He also promoted ten persons to the rank of officer in the Legion of Honor, and named thirty-nine to be Knights of the same order.

A new journal, called the Lanterne, has just appeared, rumoer one lying now on my table. The editor-in-chief is a Bonapartist after the following manner. He says:

"I, who speak to you, when I went to the Ministry of the Interior to discover the probable fate of my application for an authorization to start the Lanterne, was accused by the superior employee who received me of being a declared enemy of the existing state of things, and a supporter of those famous 'ancient parties.' This insinuation was, besides, so much the less founded that I am profoundly Bonapartist. But I may certainly be allowed to choose my hero amongst the dynasty. Some of the Legitimists prefer Louis XVIII, others Louis XVI., others, in fine, place all their sympathies on Charles X. As a Bonapartist, I prefer Napoleon II., as is my right. I shall even add that for me he represents an ideal Sovereign. No one will deny that he occupied the throne, since his successor is called Napoleon III. What a reign, my friends, what a reign. Not one tax; no useless wars with the decimes which follow; none of those distant expeditions where six hundred millions are expended to recover fifteen francs; no devouring civil list; no Ministers, each one grasping five or six functions at a hundred francs each; there is the monarch such as I understand him. Oh, yes! Napoleon II., I love thee and admire thee unreservedly. Who will now, therefore, dare to pretend that I am not a Bonapartist?"

Apropos of newspapers, in consequence of an article in the Figaro of the 30th ult., by Mons. Albert Wolff, Mons. August Maquet felt himself aggrieved, and sent his two friends M.M. Augier and Labiche to obtain reparation. As, however, no satisfactory result was arrived at, the seconds on both sides had to arrange the preliminaries of a duel; a fresh difficulty then arose as each disputant pretended to be the offended party and claimed the choice of arms. M. Maquet preferring swords, and M. Wolff pistols. The seconds then agreed to proceed to the nearest barracks and submit the question to the officers there, but as M. Wolff declined to engage to accept the decision that might be given, the two gentlemen, MM. de Ezpeleta and Alimbert, who had acted for him, relinquished their mission.

The latest fashions—but I suppose your fashion magazines keep your lady readers better posted on such subjects than I possibly could, so I will say nothing about them, save that the very latest agony in the way of hats for ladies, is the Ophelia bonnet. To the ladies the following description of its make up may be of use: Go to the gardener or florist and obtain ten or fifteen roses, or other flowers, and work them into a wreath; that crown or wreath is the bonnet. In place of flowers fruit may be taken, but if strawberries are determined on, be careful not to have them too ripe.

A collection of paintings of the Flemish and Dutch schools, belonging to the late Marquise Theodule de Rodes, has just been sold at the Hotel Drouot. Some of the principal works brought very heavy prices. A cattle scene by Van de Felde brought 12,000 francs. Wouverman's picture of "a restive horse," brought the same price. A "young lady at the toilet," by Metsu, brought 20,000 francs. The aggregate received was 171,000 francs.

The last drawing of the Loterie des Enfants-Pauvres has just taken place at the Hotel de Ville. No 2,867,996 gained the chief prize of 150,000 francs.

In digging for the foundation of a house in the Rue des Drapiers, there has just been found, at a depth of several yards, a copper vessel containing gold coins, very ancient and very roughly made, as well as jewels of primitive and barbarous handiwork. This treasure, of the total weight of several kilos, which was on the point of being shared amongst the laborers, was taken possession of by a police agent who happened to be passing at the moment, and deposited at the station.

In the way of scandal, affairs are at the usual Paris flood tide. The latest star in the Demimonde is a young American girl, the daughter of a former prominent Boston merchant, now deceased. She has a large fortune, left her in her own name and completely under her own control. She lives quite alone and gives the most brilliant entertainment, her suppers costing, it is said, fabulous sums. She is not very handsome, but has that peculiar northern freshness and beauty of complexion that contrasts so finely with the blase daughters of Paris. Her carriage and turnout are the envy of the "monde lorette," and when she tools her little "toggar (dog cart) along the Boulevards or out to the Bois, she sets young Paris wild.

The weather has been, as I remarked in the earlier portion of my letter, most delightful up to the present time. The thermometer now stands 78° Fahrenheit, (at 3 o'clock p.m.) and a most delightful breeze blowing.

Paris is full of Americans, mostly en voyage for Germany and Switzerland; the usual flood of tourists having also set in from England.

The Court, says La Patrie of this afternoon, will remove on the 6th inst. to Fontainebleau. And now having given you all the news I know, I will close this random epistle. Au revoir.

Notre devoue.

MISSISSIPPI.

—The election commences to day, and will go on till the military satrap tells it to stop, or the Radicals can manipulate it to suit themselves.

—The Grenada Sentinel is not so certain that General Governor McDowell is obnoxious to censure for deposing Gov. Humphreys and Attorney General Hooker, as he is compelled to obey orders, and, doubtless, the order came from Grant. It thinks it will damage Grant's chances for the Presidency many thousand votes.

—At Grenada, during the last week, the heat was intense, the thermometer ranging between ninety and one hundred degrees in the shade, and more than one time reaching the higher figure.

—Hinds county, which before the war was the richest county in Mississippi, has nominated, on the Radical ticket, three negroes and one ex-Federal soldier, as its representatives in the State Legislature.

—Barry was complimented with an egg-shelling at Winona on the 8th. So says the Lexington Advertiser.

A WASHINGTON special to the Cincinnati Commercial, dated the 19th, says: "Great excitement was created in this city to-night by the announcement, in an evening paper, with positive assurances of the fact, that Secretary McCulloch had to-day handed to the President his resignation as Secretary of the Treasury. Your correspondent called upon Mr. McCulloch to-night for the purpose of verifying the statement, and was informed that the assertion was not only untrue, but that he, the Secretary, had no intention of resigning at present. He stated, however, that each of the members of the Cabinet held himself in readiness to resign whenever the President should desire it. It is probable that no changes in the Cabinet will be made for some time, if at all during the summer."

Bottom Rail on Top.

Says an exchange: "At a late dinner in North Carolina, there sat down to the table three ex-Governors, an ex-Justice of the Supreme Court, two ex-members of Congress, and some other men of honorable distinction in their State, and the only person in the room who could vote or hold office was the negro who waited on the table. Such is reconstruction."

Drowned.

On the 13th inst., about six miles below Tuscumbia, Ala., Freddy, son of Dr. Jones, and Jacob, son of J. K. Swoope, were drowned in the Tennessee river. They were aged respectively 13 and 11 years.

—The Masons of Cairo are making preparations for a fine display and pleasant excursion to Metropolis, Ill., on the 24th of June. The steamer Cumberland will probably be chartered for the occasion.

—The recent session of the Rhode Island Legislature occupied exactly two days. Twenty-nine acts granting or amending charters to various corporations, and five public acts, were passed, and six joint resolutions adopted.

—Shedd, Kelly and Connaughton, the parties held as accessories to the murder of Prickett, the wrestler, in Hamilton, Ohio, were, on Wednesday, released upon bail. Griffin, the principal, stands committed for murder in the first degree.

BOSTON, June 21.—In the walking match between Weston and Toply, at the conclusion of twenty-four hours Weston having walked seventy-five miles, refused to walk any more. Toply kept on and completed his seventy-fourth mile and then stopped for rest. Soon afterward, Mr. Goodwin, Weston's backer, came out and announced that Toply had been drawn, and the judges declared Weston the winner, giving as his time for seventy-five miles, 23 hours 57 minutes and 45 seconds, and Toply's time for seventy-four miles, 24 hours, 57 minutes and 30 seconds.

NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, June 21.—Rio Janeiro advices to May 26th state that Brazilian finance reports show the cost of the Paraguayan war to be $121,000,000 and the total debt of the Empire $247,000,000. The Minister of Finance declared a foreign loan impracticable while the war lasts.

News from the Parana states that Lopez is arming women, and has 4000 of them already on the Tibicuray, under Eliza Lynch, an Irish woman. They are charged with the duty of guarding the communications.

Twenty-five hundred Paraguayans assaulted the Brazilian position on the Chaco, on the 4th of May, but were repulsed with a loss of one-sixth of their number.

Another account states that the engagement was on the field, and the victory is claimed for both sides—the loss on the Paraguayan side being reported at 800, and on the Brazilian side at 400 to 500.

The Emperor of Brazil opened the General Assembly on May 9th. In the course of a speech he stated that the United States had again offered a mediation for the re-establishment of peace with Paraguay, which, however, was declined with thanks, the same reasons existing, strengthened by late triumphs, which prevented the acceptance of the first offer.

Buenos Ayres advices to May 14th state that the result of the Presidential election in the Argentine Confederation is as yet unknown, though it occurred April 24th.

A serious revolution was pending in Uraguay, inaugurated by one Maximo Peres, a subaltern officer.

The Buenos Ayres Legislature was opened on the thirteenth by Gov. Alsina. He strongly censured war with Paraguay.

A Port au Prince correspondence of June 8th, states that the revolutionists completely encircle the city, but do not appear disposed to make a general attack. Salnave's forts continued the bombardment of them, and he seems more than ever determined to resist to the last.

United States Consul Hollister, Commander Eastman, of the gunboat Pendleton, and their numerous suite, made a visit of courtesy to Salnave.

Letters from Venezuela state that Gen. Falcon and family are safe at Cuasacos, and that Gen. Monagas was advancing on Caracas.

St. Thomas advices of June 15th state that a band of slaves had revolted on St. John's Island, shot their overseer, maltreated the police, and fled to Tortola, where they were overtaken by a squad of soldiers and two of them made prisoners.

The steamship Arizona, from Aspinwall, arrived to-day with $1,630,000 treasure.

—At Philadelphia June 14, Henry Johnson was mortally stabbed by a man named Buck during a political dispute. Buck gave himself up to the authorities.

—John Ennemane, a brakeman on the Pan Handle Railroad, was run over and killed by a gravel train on Saturday night, two miles from Pittsburg. The wheel of the locomotive passed over his head, crushing it in a horrible manner, and scattering the brains of the unfortunate man along the track. He was intoxicated at the time.

—Commodore Philip C. Johnson is ordered to duty as Fleet Captain of the South Pacific squadron.

GENERAL ITEMS.

—Mrs. Abel Martin, sixty-two years old and for some time infirm in health, hanged herself with a handkerchief to an apple tree, at her home in Princeton, Bureau county, Ill., on the 15th inst.

—Henry Baldwin, who some time since killed a man in the West Virginia penitentiary, and escaped, was captured in Kansas a day or two since, and is now en route for West Virginia in charge of T. S. McFadden.

—The Democrats of the Eleventh Illinois District yesterday nominated S. S. Marshall for re-election to Congress, by acclamation. Resolutions were adopted, indorsing the State platform, and declaring for Pendleton for President.

—The Democrats of the Twelfth Illinois Congressional District, in convention, on the 18th, at East St. Louis, nominated Judge Wm. H. Snyder, of Belleville, for Congress. The convention indorsed the State platform, approved the financial policy of Pendleton, and declared him their first choice for President.

—The Cincinnati Commercial says: Congress has cowardly flinched from its work on the Tax bill, and proposes to dodge its duty until after the Presidential election. The truth is, the majority of Congressmen know very little about tax bills or any financial questions of greater import than the amount of their salaries and the price of board.

—A couple of young Americans recently lost their way in the suburbs of Frankfort-on-the-Main. Meeting a plainly-dressed, middle-aged gentleman, they asked him in what direction they had to go. The stranger gave them all necessary information, walked with them for half an hour, chatted with them on America and a great many other topics, and when they finally parted company, and, thanking him for his kindness, asked for his name, he replied smilingly, "Adolphi von Nassau." It was the ex-Duke of Nassau.

TWENTY-SECOND DAY—Monday.—Sun rises 5:1 ; sets 7:54.

Saints.—St. Alban, proto-martyr of Britain, 303; St. Paulinus, confessor, 431.

Born.—Jacques Delille, French poet, 1738; Thomas Day, author of "Sanford and Merton," 1748.

Died.—Nicholas Machiavel, Florentine statesman, 1727; Bishop Fisher, beheaded at Tower Hill, 1535.

Remarkable Events.—Just sixty years ago to-day, perhaps the most remarkable duel that was ever fought took place. It was peculiarly French in its tone, and could not have occurred in any other than a French state of society. Mons. De Grandpre and Mons. Le Pique had a quarrel, arising out of jealousy concerning a lady engaged at the Imperial Opera, one Mlle Tirevit, and they agreed to fight a duel to settle their respective claims. In order that the heat of their angry passions should not interfere with the polished elegance of the proceeding, they agreed to postpone the duel for one month, the lady consenting to bestow her smiles on the survivor of the two, if either were killed. The duelists were to fight in the air, and for this purpose two balloons were constructed precisely alike, one of which on the day appointed De Grandpre and his second entered, and the other was occupied by Le Pique and his second, in the garden of the Tuileries amid an immense concourse of spectators.

The gentlemen were to fire, not at each other, but at each other's balloon, in order to bring them down by the escape of gas, and to kill the occupants by the fall. As pistols would hardly have served the purpose, each seronaut carried a rifle in the air. At a given signal the rope which held the cars were cut, and the balloons ascended. A gentle breeze was blowing, which kept the two balloons in their ascent at the relative distance from each other which they occupied when they quit the earth. When about a half mile in the air, at a given signal, Mons. Le Pique (who had won the first fire) shot, and missed. Mons. Le Grandpre then fired and sent his bullet through the balloon of his opponent, which collapsed and fell to the earth with frightful rapidity, dashing Le Pique and his second to pieces. De Grandpre continued his ascent triumphantly, and landed at a distance of seven leagues from Paris.

INSURANCE.—We call the attention of those interested in insurance to the advertisement of Wm. H. Moore, Esq. He represents good companies, and is most favorably known as a reliable insurance agent.

NICHOLSON PAVEMENT.—The contractors for paving DeSoto street, on Saturday, commenced breaking ground on that street, between Madison and Union. The pavement on Beal street has been finished between Second and Shelby.

FRED. WOLF & HENRY FAZZI, No. 46½ NORTH COURT STREET.—These popular barbers have concluded to reduce their price of shaving and hair cutting, which will certainly be good news to their numerous friends and customers.

YOU can get them all at our two stores, "both daily," No. 10 Jefferson street and 393 Main street. Emmons & Son have all the July magazines, Die Modenwelt for June, all the French, English, Scotch, Irish, German and Italian papers, and all the New York, Chicago, Cincinnati, St. Louis and Louisville dailies.

BAPTISM IN THE CHURCH.—At eight o'clock, before vespers last evening, at St. Peter's church, a young lady, Miss Genevieve Dickinson, from Friar's Point, was received into the church and solemnly baptized by Father O'Brien, Mr. P. G. Bigley and Miss Ella Conway being the sponsors. After the ceremonies Father O'Brien preached an impressive sermon.

THE COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS.—We beg leave to remind the sergeant-at-arms of the Board of Mayor and Aldermen that by a resolution of the Board it is a portion of his duty to notify all the reporters of the city press of meetings of the Board. He has seen fit, for some reason, studiously to neglect notifying the Reporter of the APPEAL for several meetings past. We request that this shall not occur again.

THE MASONIC PICNIC.—We have not yet been put in possession of a complete programme of the order of exercises which will be pursued on Wednesday, the 24th inst., the few facts given yesterday being all that we have been able to learn. Certain it is, however, that the "Brethren of the Mystic Tie" are going to have a most brilliant affair on the patron Saint's day. The proceeds of the sale of tickets, etc., it will be remembered, will be turned over to the "Masonic relief fund." Let every Mason put his shoulder to the wheel and help swell the sum to be thus donated.

TERRIBLE AFFRAY.

Amazonian Viragoes on the Rampage.

Bloody Termination of an Old Feud.

The large building on the southeast corner of Main und Washington streets, was the scene last evening of a terrific amazonian encounter, which had a bloody and probably fatal termination.

The lower floors of this building are occupied as stores and offices, and the upper as sleeping rooms. These latter have been rented to a class of women and men whose morals and character gained for it the derisive epithet of the Temple of Virtue. In room No. 10 there lived a woman whose name we have been unable to learn, but whose soubriquet was or is the "Great Eastern," so called from her immense size. There was an old feud between this woman and another of the same class and of nearly the same gigantic proportions, who is known in police circles as Mat Hawkins. Hawkins went several times yesterday down to the Great Eastern's room to have a fight with her, but the latter, bing peaceably inclined, talked her out of her warlike intentions, and she went off each time apparently appeased.

About 6 o'clock yesterday evening she returned, however, determined, as she said, to "have it out then and there." The Great Eastern again tried to avoid the quarrel, but in vain, and was forced into a bloody combat, of which we have been unable to learn the particulars, except that a hatchet was seized by the infuriated Hawkins and freely used on the head of the other unfortunate woman, mutilating her in a most horrible and ghastly manner, and chopping her face almost completely off.

At the present writing, we are informed that it is considered impossible by the attendant physicians for her to live through the night. Hawkins was arrested and lodged in the Adams street station, bail having been refused for her. The case will be examined this morning by Commissioner Burdett, when more will be known of the shocking affair.

POLICE ITEMS.

—The usual Sunday dullness of Memphis was not broken into yesterday by anything new or startling. The first fruits of Col. Beaumont's order showed themselves yesterday in the arrest of no less than six parties, mostly negroes, for carrying concealed weapons.

—Marshall Johnson, the tall sleek darkey who figures so extensively at all the "blowouts" around town, as a sort of band-leader, or kapelmeister, was arrested on a capias from the Sheriff, and lodged in Causey street station house. The charges were not made apparent on the docket, but the Police Commissioner will look into them to-day.

—There were eleven arrests made up to seven o'clock yesterday evening, in the Second District.

—I. Ozanna, a baker who keeps a shop on Poplar street, was yesterday arrested and incarcerated in the Adams street station, on the charge of arson. The parties causing the arrest allege that he set fire to his own house to secure the insurance. He will be examined by Commissioner Burdett this morning.

—There were but four arrests up to seven o'clock last evening in the First District, two of which were for carrying concealed weapons.

—Commissioner Burdett while passing along D. Soto street, near Madison, on Saturday evening, saw a negro draw a pistol and fire two shots at another negro, both of which missed their mark, and then turn and run into a neighboring kitchen, whither the Commissioner followed him, and saw him throw his pistol under a bed. The darkey then quickly picked up a coat and commenced to put it on, and turning and meeting him at the door as unconcerned as if nothing had happened, asked him what he wanted. The Commissioner replied that he wanted him, and with considerable difficulty arrested him and took him to the First District station, where he was immediately recognized as a darkey whom they had long been wanting, the driver of the hack which was carried along by the burglars who entered Harder's shoe store some six weeks since. The case will be thoroughly examined into to-day.

ST. LOUIS MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY.—It is beyond all cavil, the duty of every man of family to take out a life policy. He can lie down at night with placid conscience, knowing that he secured those dependent upon him for support, against the possibility of want. He may be suddenly cut off in his prime, the well laid plans for accumulating fortune, nipped in the bud, yet there stands his policy, and no power in the land can divert it from its mission of benevolence and bounty, to feed and educate the fatherless and comfort and sustain the bereaved widow. None of the various institutions which have this great object in view, has contributed so largely to the diffusion of good through the land as the St. Louis Mutual Life Insurance Company. The nature of its obligations, the liberality of its terms, the promptness of its action and the speedy relief it brings, have become household words. Its Agency here has secured the largest accession to its business, and elevated its character even beyond its well known stability, and the integrity with which its affairs are conducted. By calling upon Messrs. McMahon & Otis, circulars may be obtained, giving a history and presenting a statement of the business of the Company, whose assets are ample, and which has never been known to postpone a just claim. We commend to our young friends who have occupations, to invest a part of their earnings in a policy. It will be sure to return manifold benefits, and when most needed.

THE TOURNAMENT.—Arrangements are being rapidly shoved forward and perfected, for the grand tilting joust which is to come off on Thursday the 26th inst., at Linde's Park. We have not learned as yet the names of any of the Knights who have entered the lists, but have no doubt that the rich prizes offered, and the object for which the tourney is instituted, will bring many contestants hither from far and near. The prizes, etc., are published in another column. The second, it will be seen, has been changed from a gold watch to a diamond ring worth the same amount.

THE remarkable cures effected by Dr. Norris are awakening the scientific interest of the whole country. The doctor is a gentleman in the prime of life, who is destined to make a great mark on the age. His great experience, skill and care in treating the eye, assures the finest results. We give below certificates of a few of the many cures the doctor has made since he located in Memphis:

EYES SORE FOR FIVE YEARS.—This certifies that my eyes have been sore and my sight lost for four or five years; was treated by some half dozen physicians and oculists; was induced to try Dr. C. B. Norris, oculist, at No. 59 Madison street, and after five weeks' treatment, can now read the newspapers, and am able to go to my work and other duties as usual. I recommend Dr. Norris, with all my heart, as a most excellent Eye Surgeon and gentleman.
A. H. DOUGHERTY,
Conductor Street Cars.

ANOTHER BLIND MAN MADE TO SEE. This is to certify that I had sore eyes for four years, and that I was almost totally blind in one eye for three years, and had been treated by several physicians without any relief. About four weeks ago I went to Dr. Norris, Oculist, No. 59 Madison street, Memphis, and to-day, after submitting to his treatment only four weeks, my eyes are perfectly well, and I can see as clear as any one. I make this statement for the benefit of those afflicted as I have been, and I say to them in all candor, call on Dr. Norris, and be speedily cured. I can be found at the Gas Works, head of Main street, at any time.
THOMAS MALAY.

CATARACT REMOVED WITHOUT THE USE OF THE KNIFE.—This is to certify that I was growing gradually blind for several months, and that my vision became so dim that I could not distinguish a black man from a white one at a distance of twenty feet, nor could I read the largest letters on the signs, when I was induced to call on Dr. Norris, oculist, at 59 Madison street, who pronounced my disease soft cataract, which was attested by several other physicians. In ten days after Dr. Norris commenced treating me my sight was greatly improved, and in two weeks both cataracts were entirely absorbed and removed, and I can now see to read the finest print. This astonishing result was done entirely by the use of Dr. N.'s Magic Collyrium.
CHARLES WAIT,
129 Second street, Memphis.

BLIND MADE TO SEE.—This is to certify that I had been almost totally blind for a year from violent inflammation of the eyes, and that I had been treated by various physicians for the same, among whom were the excellent Doctors at the State Hospital, of which institution I was an inmate for two months, when I was discharged because they could do no more for me. After which I was induced to try Dr. C. B. Norris, Oculist, (whose Eye Infirmary is at 59 Madison street, Memphis,) of whose success I had heard flattering accounts, and at the end of one month, under his skillful treatment, I declare that my vision is as clear and distinct as it ever was, and I have no hesitation in stating that my case was one, in reality, where the blind was made to see, and I make this publication that those similarly afflicted may reap, as I have done, the benefit of Dr. Norris' gentle and wonderful treatment.
MICHAEL BURK.

P. S.—I live at the foot of Exchange street, where those doubting can call and see for themselves. B.

THE APPEAL Job Office is now prepared to do everything in the way of job work, from the most delicate visiting card to a mammoth poster, with neatness and dispatch, at the most moderate rates.

LOST.—On Friday, June 5th, a small nugget of native gold ore. It was in the shape of a leaf, and had been worn as a bosom pin. Having become detached from the pin, it was lost sometime during Friday. A reward will be paid for it if left at this office.

GRAND LUNCH.—Among all those new free lunch concerns, the public must not forget their old favorite and stand by, Vetter Dreisiacker, of the Monroe Exchange, No. 35 Monroe street, who has ever set a lunch of the best and finest the market affords. His wines and liquors are of the best quality, and his beer is superb—foaming and fresh always. Attentive and polite bar-keepers will wait upon his friends and customers, and all are invited to come and see him. Beer five cents per glass, except at lunch time, when it is ten cents.

THE SONS OF TEMPERANCE are constantly increasing in number, and we know of no other reason than that the old "topers" have been using the "Great General Restorative," which creates a dislike for the use of liquors, and caused them to "jine." For sale by Druggists will do well to examine his stock, as he is selling at less than New York and manufacturers' prices, thereby making it an object to buyers who generally incur the expense of going East to replenish their stocks.

MEMPHIS LADIES' INSTITUTE—CONCERT TO-NIGHT.—The young ladies, pupils of the academy of Mrs. Southworth and Mrs. McGhee, will give a concert to-night at Memphis Club Hall. We are unacquainted personally with any of the young ladies who will take part in the affair; we have, however, been informed by musicians, that among them are some most accomplished and brilliant performers, who play the most difficult music, such as Liszt's "Rigoletto," or Prudent's "Lucia di Lammermoor," and sing exquisitely. In addition to the selection of duos, trios, etc., by the young ladies, Mr. H. T. Tomlinson, whose flute is almost magical, will play a fine solo, and will accompany the young ladies.

We are requested to state that there will be no dropping of the curtain or intermissions. The commencement exercises of the academy will take place on the 29th inst., when the graduating class of seven young ladies will receive diplomas. Tickets for sale at the door, price one dollar—the ticket of admission holding good for the commencement exercises.

ACCIDENT.—About seven o'clock last evening, as Mr. M. Haley was airing two young ladies, Miss Ida Fletcher and Miss Lou Pope, an accident occurred at the junction of Shelby and Trezevant streets, which was near proving fatal. The lynch pin of the buggy broke, by which the vehicle was upset and the young ladies thrown out with great violence, both being very much injured, but Miss Fletcher the more seriously of the two.

RIVER MATTERS.

WEATHER AND RIVERS.

Weather cool and pleasant. The river at this point is falling steadily. The Ohio was falling yesterday at Cairo, but the short rise which has been coming from the Licking will no doubt check the fall to-day. The latest news from points above will be found in our telegraphic column. The Arkansas is about on a stand, with three feet to Little Rock. White river is falling steadily, with not less than four feet to Jacksonport.

MISCELLANEOUS.

There was no activity on the landing yesterday. It was one of the quietest Sundays we remember to have seen. The Hambleton reached the wharf with some people and freight, but almost as soon as the stage plank was out the former wended their way up town, hacks returned, idle negroes threw back their heads and closed their eyes and were still lying in unconscious don't-care-a-darnativeness when the sun went to rest.

The Louisiana, Capt. Phillips, passes down this morning for the Crescent City.

To our friend Charley Morris, of Pacific Place, we are indebted for some interesting items.

The Devil's Elbow, of the Mississippi river, is twenty miles around and only three miles across by Bateman's Bayou, or the cut off, which makes it an island in high water—yet only three-fourths of a mile across at the narrowest point. This point is between the farms of Chas. Stockley and Dr. Williams. The point of "Elbow" on a dark night is Old Nick to pilots, without the familiar land mark—the old light-house at Pacific Place, on the Arkansas shore, Waterdale is five miles above Pacific Place, and belongs to Chas. Morris. Dr. D. C. Joyner is the shipper and landlord at this place, and will attend to all consignments.

The Victor No. 2, Capt. Hiram Dean, is going to "fight it out on this line," if it takes all summer. She has nothing else to do. She can reclaim the river crops by using her whistle to drive coons off the young corn. Dean is a gallant Captain; his first love was the "Maid of Peru," and his next the "Lady."

The plum crop on Plum Island is a failure this season. The water and the extreme cold days have prevented the fruit from maturing, for the first time in many years.

The "insects" having returned from the Chicago Convention, are now playing star engagements. The beast gnats or buffalo gnats, have quit, after a four week's stay, and are now succeeded by mosquitoes in full force, giving a Variety of entertainments, which even "Brooms" can't sweep off. They draw well.

Cotton Wood Point, Arkansas, has changed its name to that of Waterdale, from the fact of there being one in Missouri, four of "18," and the two names conflict. Pilots will please note this on their log books. Capt. Dean Conway suggested the change.

The fine United States mail packet Celeste, Capt. Reese Pritchard, leaves at 6 p.m. to-day for the Arkansas river and all way points. She is light draught and fast, and will make quick time. Her office is superintended by competent gentlemen.

The elegant steamer City of Cairo, Capt. Crane, came in last night and backs out to-day for Cairo and St. Louis. She connects with boats of the Northern line, and with trains for the North and East. Billy Blenker is chief clerk.

The United States mail packet Commercial, Capt. Ashford, will be at the landing this morning. She leaves tomorrow for Jacksonport and all intermediate points on White river, connecting with the train at Duvall's Bluff for Little Rock. Charley and John Smithers are clerks.

The Minnie, Capt. Doyle, leaves today for Arkansas river. Her hour of departure will be found in another column.

The Great Republic passed up yesterday with a splendid trip of both people and freight.

The St. Louis people are beginning to wake up on the question of travel. They find that by sending out fine packets instead of freight barges, they get a very large amount of travel which otherwise would go up the Ohio.

The Mollie Hambleton, Capt Bowman, came in yesterday. She leaves tomorrow for the St. Francis river, making all intermediate landings. Paine, Clark and Shell are clerks of the Mollie.

The Frank Pargoud, Capt. John Tobin, with Geo. Williams in the office, leaves for New Orleans to-day at 5 p.m.

Capt. John Duble and Mr. Chassaing, clerk of the W. R. Arthur, have resigned their positions on that steamer, and will be succeeded by Capt. Pat. and James Yore.

John W. Eckley, a popular clerk, formerly of the Mississippi, Ruth and other fine boats, has quit the river and departed for California.

The storm on Friday at Louisville was very severe. At Portland the Belle Lee, Tarascon, P. W. Strader and Louisville, parted their stern lines and were blown entirely around, stern up stream. The Belle Lee lost her jackstaff, and the Tarascon had a sheet blown out of her chimney and lost a portion of her jackstaff; her upper guard was slightly damaged.

Mr. L. L. Jones, of Natchez, now at Louisville, has a patent for a condensing apparatus applicable to ordinary high-pressure Western steamers, which makes them equal to low-pressure. Machinists pronounce it a success, and Stuckey, Twomy & Co., of the New Albany foundry, builders of the engines of the R. E. Lee, have determined to apply the patent to the Lee.

Our Latest Improved

NEW SCALE PIANO-FORTE.

GROVESTEEN & CO.,

499 Broadway, N. Y.,

THESE instruments, after the most flattering testimonials from the first Pianists in the country, who, at our solicitation, have tested them in the severest manner possible, have been pronounced THE FINEST SQUARE PIANO-FORTES MADE IN THE WORLD.

It has always been our policy, during the thirty-six years that we have manufactured Pianos, twelve thousand of which are now in use, in the United States and Europe, to give the finest instrument at the lowest cost. Our superior facilities enable us to offer them for sale to three hundred dollars less than any other First Class House.

The tone of these Instruments are remarkable for their peculiar Sweetness and Great Brilliancy, never losing their quality when forced to their utmost capacity. The lower register retaining its positiveness, does not destroy the middle and upper registers by mingling with them in disagreeable confusion, the refined beauty of tone being equally delightful to the unpracticed and to the most cultivated ear.

They are an entirely new style of Piano, finished in the most superb manner, with four full round corners front and back, heavily carved legs and Lyre Serpentine Base richly moulded, and each instrument is fully warranted for five years.

MEMPHIS APPEAL.

WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, June 20.—The President sent the following message to Congress to-day:

To the House of Representatives of the United States:

I return, without my signature, a bill entitled an act to admit the State of Arkansas to representation in Congress. To approve of this bill would be an admission on the part of the Executive, that the act for the more efficient government of the rebel States, passed March 2d, 1867, and the acts supplementary thereto were proper and constitutional. My opinion, however, in regard to these measures, has undergone no change, but on the contrary has been strengthened by the results which have attended their execution, and even were not this the case, I could not consent to a bill which is based upon the assumption either that by an act of rebellion by a portion of its people, the State of Arkansas seceded from the Union, or that Congress may, at its pleasure, expel or excuse any State from the Union, or interrupt its relations with the Government by arbitrarily depriving it of representation in the Senate and House of Representatives.

If Arkansas is not a State in the Union, this bill does not admit it as a State. If, on the other hand, it is a State in the Union, no legislation is necessary to declare it entitled to representation in Congress. As one of the States of the Union, the Constitution already declares that each State shall have at least one Representative, and that the Senate shall be composed of two Senators from each State, and that no State, without its consent, shall be deprived of its equal suffrage in that Senate. It also makes each House the judge of the elections returns and the qualifications of its own members; and therefore all that is now necessary to receive Arkansas in all its constitutional relations to the Government, is a decision by each House upon the eligibility of those presenting their credentials and claims to seats in the respective Houses of Congress. This is the plain and simple plan of the Constitution, and had it been pursued when Congress assembled in the month of December, 1865, the restoration of the States would have been long since completed.

I once again earnestly recommend that it be adopted by each House of Congress, in reference to the legislation, which I respectfully submit, which is not only of doubtful constitutionality and therefore unwise and dangerous as a precedent, but unnecessary and not so effective in its operations as the mode prescribed by the Constitution. It involves an additional delay, and from its terms, it may be taken rather as applicable to a territory about to be admitted as one of the United States, than as a State which has occupied a place in the Union for upwards of a quarter of a century.

The bill declares that Arkansas is entitled and admitted to representation in Congress as one of the States of the Union upon the following fundamental conditions:

That the Constitution of Arkansas shall never be so amended or changed as to deprive any citizen or class of citizens of the United States of the right to vote who are entitled to vote by the Constitution as now recognized, except for punishment for crimes that are now felonies at common law, whereof they shall have been convicted, equally applicable to all the inhabitants of said State, provided any alteration of said Constitution, prospective in its effect, may be made in regard to time and place of residence of voters. I have been unable to find in the Constitution of the United States any warrant for the exercise of the authorities thus claimed by Congress in assuming power to impose fundamental conditions on a State which has been duly admitted into the Union on an equal footing with the original States in all respects whatever. Congress asserts a right to enter a State and, if it may be a Territory, and to renovate the highest prerogative of a free people—the elective franchise—as this question is reserved by the Constitution to the States themselves, and to concede to Congress the power to regulate this subject would be the reverse of the fundamental principle of the Republic, and place in the hands of the Federal Government, which is a creation of the States, the sovereignties which justly belongs to the States or the people, the true source of all political power by whom our Federal system was created, and to whose will it is subordinate.

The bill fails to provide in what manner the State of Arkansas is to signify its acceptance of the fundamental condition which Congress endeavors to make unalterable, nor does it provide what penalties are to be imposed should the people of the State amend or change the particular portions of the Constitutions which it was one of the purposes of the bill to perpetuate, but as to the consequence of such action as leaves them in uncertainty and doubt when the circumstances under which this Constitution has been brought to the attention of Congress are considered, it is not unreasonable to suppose that efforts will be made to modify its provisions, especially those in respect to which this measure prohibits any alteration. It is seriously questionable whether the Constitution has been ratified by a majority of the persons who, under the act of March 2d, 1865, [illegible] acts supplementary thereto, were entitled to registration and to vote upon issue. Section 10 of the schedule provides that no persons disqualified from voting or registracy under this Constitution shall vote for candidates for any office, or be entitled to vote for the ratification or a rejection of the Constitution at the polls, is herein authorized and assumed to be in force; therefore its ratification is in disregard of the law of Congress. The Constitution also undertakes to impose upon the electors other and further conditions. The fifth section of the eighth article provides that all persons before registering or voting shall take and subscribe to an oath which among others, contains the following clause: "That I accept the civil and political equality of all men, and agree not to attempt to deprive any persons, on account of race, color, or previous condition, of any political or civil rights, privileges or immunities enjoyed by any other class of men."

It is very well known that in a large portion of the elections in all the States, if not in all, they do not believe in or accept the political equality of Indians, Mongolians or negroes, with the race to which they belong. If the voters in many of the States of the Northwest were required to take such an oath, as a test of their qualification, there is reason to believe that a majority of them would remain away from the polls, rather than comply with such degrading conditions. Then to what extent this test oath prevented the registration of those who were qualified under the laws of Congress, it is impossible to know; but such was its effect, as at least being sufficient to overthrow the small and doubtful majority in favor of the Constitution, there can be no reasonable doubt. Should the people of Arkansas, therefore, desiring to regulate the elective franchise, so as to make it conform to their institutions, and also to those of a large portion of the North and West, and modify the provisions, referred to in the fundamental condition. What is the consequence? Is it intended that a denial of representation shall follow? and if so, may we not at some future day mourn a recurrence of the troubles which have so long agitated the country? and would it not be the part of wisdom to take for our guide the Federal Constitution, rather than to resort to measures which, looking only to the present, may, in a few years, renew, in an aggravated form, the strife and bitterness caused by legislation, which has been proved to have been ill-timed and unfortunate?

(Signed) ANDREW JOHNSON.

Washington, June 20, 1868.

The tax bill, reported to the House today, fixes the tax on whisky at sixty cents. The finer qualities of tobacco are reduced from 40 to 32 cents. There is not much change in other kinds. The bill is long, embracing administrative sections on these subjects contained in the tax bill heretofore reported.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL.

OFFICE OF THE DAILY APPEAL, MEMPHIS, June 20, 1868.

The rain which fell last night and which it is hoped was general throughout West Tennessee, Arkansas and North Mississippi, has been of incalculable benefit to the growing crops. Corn especially was suffering from the dry weather, and was assuming a matured and sickly hue towards the root, indicating a stunted growth, and nubbins only instead of ears. The rain, however, will change all this, and where it has fallen no fear need now be apprehended. With a good corn crop and fair receipts of wheat, we may look forward to a much more prosperous fall than otherwise would ensue. Wheat will soon arrive from Arkansas, and will find eager purchasers in this market at full St. Louis prices. The new crop has sold in this market so far, during the season, at from 25 to 50c over the prices ruling in Nashville and Louisville. The surplus which our planters can send to market will enable them to get along without assistance until they make their cotton crops, and will put money in circulation in greater quantities than many would suppose. One house alone expects to receive at least $50,000 worth of wheat during the season, having sent sacks enough into the interior to cover nearly that amount.

Money remains easy, and Exchange is becoming heavy. Our discount houses are all supplied, and the buying rates are no longer firm, while we learn of occasional sales at less than the customary checking rate of the past few weeks. Eastern sight is taken at par and sold at ¼ to ½ premium. On other points there is no change.

Bonds and stocks are generally firm. We quote a sale of $5000 City at 53 to 53½c; Memphis and Ohio Railroad stock in fair demand at 10@; 1st Mortgage bonds 10@, 30@; 2d Mortgage bonds 6@, 20@; Mississippi Central Railroad stock, 10@; 1st Mortgage, 57 to 58@; 2d Mortgage, 39 to 40@; Memphis and Little Rock 1st Mortgage bonds, 40@; Navy bonds, 52@; Mississippi and Tennessee 1st Mortgage, 50@; Mississippi and Tennessee 2d Mortgage, 33@.

Gold opened in New York at 140, and closed at the same—not varying during the day. We quote at 139 buying. Selling at 140.

City Scrip has done nothing for some days—there being no offerings. We quote nominally 77 to 80c buying and selling.

County Warrants are dull at 62c buying. Selling at 64 to 65c. Small pieces are held higher.

Police Scrip steady at 80 to 82c buying. Selling at 85 to 87c as to amount.

A large number of prominent fire underwriters from the Eastern and Western cities were in attendance at the session, in Baltimore, of the Executive Committee of the National Board of Underwriters. The reports of the several committees show the importance of this national organization, and there appears to be a unanimous determination to make it permanent.

The Minnesota papers speak enthusiastically of the condition of the growing crops. The season is the most favorable of any since 1860. It is estimated that from forty to fifty per cent. will be added in breaking this year to the cultivated lands of the State.

Cotton was firmer at the opening in Liverpool to-day; Uplands, 11½ to 11¾d; Orleans, 11⅝ to 11¾d, and closed at an advance. Uplands, 11¾d; Orleans, 11¾d. Sales 15,000 bales.

There was a good demand at the opening in New York, and prices were higher. Low Middlings, 30c; Middlings, 31½c; Orleans, 32c; Good Middlings, 33c. At 11 a.m. the demand was fair, and prices firm. At noon the demand was also fair but at lower rates; Uplands, 31c. At 1 p.m. prices were irregular but lower; Uplands, 29½c; Orleans nominally, 31½c. At the close the market was quiet but firm; Middlings, 31c. Sales 1500 bales; week's sales 15,000 bales. Week's receipts, 3650 bales. Exports, 1605 bales. Stock on hand, 55,500 bales. Week's receipts at all United States ports, 3700 bales.

Our market was quiet, with holders asking New York rates on such small lots as were uncovered, and no buyers. It is impossible to give anything nearer to an idea of the prices asked here than the quotations given above. The stock has been reduced largely since our last.
